

ERITREAN 23RD INDEPENDENCE CEREMONY
PASSION STIRS IN THE WEST COAST
May 24th, 2014

The Eritrean 23rd independence celebration in the Bay Area, California is underway with vigor and passion. The ECCCC hall in Oakland is filled to capacity with Eritreans colorfully adorned with cultural clothes glorifying the very sacred May 24th Independence Day with zeal.

This very magic day is not transient in time. Indeed it always will remain in our memories for years to come. Because, the 23rd Independence has some magnetism to it. Obviously the year has started with news of successful development from within Eritrea. For the Bay Area residents, it is all special because this is the first independence celebration held in the new ECCCC hall located in the heart of Oakland, California.

Selam Band from Seattle, Helen Paulos from Eritrea and Temesgen Berhane (Bazigar) from Washington DC rocked the building with vigor. All night long.

All the hoopla the Bay Area Eritreans confronted thus far bore fruits and the Bay Area stands tall in pride.

Eritrea and Eritreans are once more telling the world that, they are masters of their destiny in all aspects. With that, we sing an eternal glory to our Martyrs, we salute our EDF forces and we thank our Government in Eritrea for carrying the vision.

Happy 23rd Independence Day
